

ABSTRACT

An organization of at least one content of at least one spatial data storage system is determined. A schedule of content transmission in response to the organization of the at least one content of the at least one spatial data storage device is defined.